

Profile

Talent Management

Gemma Acton

Gemma Acton is the finance expert within the national Seven News team and is fast becoming one of Australia's foremost business and financial commentators. As Seven's Network Finance Editor, Gemma covers financial and business stories making headlines across the country and around the world.

Gemma is featured as a regular on The Latest from 7NEWS, anchored by Michael Usher, covering up-to-the-minute developments on the biggest news events of the day. Gemma joins Michael live at the desk to discuss the latest financial and business news stories and how these issues will impact Australian consumers. The Latest airs Monday to Thursday on Seven.

She is also a regular contributor to Sunrise, The Morning Show and the news bulletins throughout the day around the country.

Gemma can also be seen hosting AusBiz TV: Australia's leading provider of live and on-demand video of the latest news in Australian business, markets, economy and startups. Each week, Gemma interviews chief executives, company founders, fund managers and industry experts.

Gemma's appointment to the Seven Network marked a homecoming for her, having spent the previous 18 years living abroad in several cities including London, New York, Dubai, Milan and Paris. During this time, Gemma successfully pursued both creative and financial educational and career opportunities at prestigious institutions including Goldman Sachs, Merrill Lynch and PIMCO. She also gained her MBA/MA from the Lauder Institute and the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania and has her Chartered Financial Analyst qualification.

In her current role at the Seven Network, Gemma reports on and simplifies business and finance stories for a national audience, with a particular focus on how these topics are affecting Australian consumers. She keeps a keen eye on the impact that the ongoing digital revolution is having on Australians' jobs, financial security and everyday lives.

Before returning to Australia, Gemma was a valued member of the CNBC team as a news anchor and correspondent based out of London, known for her excitable enthusiasm for stories driving local and international markets. Prior to this, Gemma worked as a producer at CNBC and also spent 8 successful years in investment banking and asset management roles.

Profile

Talent Management

Gemma's professionalism, warmth and expertise make her a sought-after MC and facilitator for corporate functions and charity events. Gemma can also be booked for keynote speeches relating to finance and business topics, as well as women in the workforce.

Outside of work, Gemma enjoys keeping active and has a particular love for skiing, tennis and running. She speaks Italian and French and loves to read literature in both of these languages to relax.

Talent Manager:

Joseph Hanrahan

jhanrahan@profiletalent.com.au

P: 03 8598 7810