NATHAN BROAD

Known as “Broady” to his fans, Nathan Broad is a much-loved player on and off the field. He was a favourite with his weekly sports segment on Nova’s Breakie show Chrissie, Sam & Brownny, and in 2023 became a co-host on the LiSTNR sports podcast Footy Talks. He has also appeared on the Sunday Footy Show, Fox Footy and SEN Radio. Nathan’s social media fan base is ever growing, as are his subsequent brand opportunities.

As a 3xAFL premiership player for the Richmond Tigers, Nathan also continues to impress on the field as a versatile defender.

A country boy at heart, Nathan grew up in a small town in Perth where he worked hard and honed his football skills, eventually being drafted by Richmond with the club’s third selection in the 2015 national draft. He is now in his seventh year playing for the Tigers and continues to have outstanding success. He was in the premiership team in 2017, 2019 and 2020 and the team was also awarded the coveted McClelland Trophy in 2018, which is awarded to the best performing club.

Nathan is married to Media Personality Tayla Broad. In 2023 they welcomed their first child, Samara. They live in Melbourne and also have an adorable French bulldog named Charlie.
