

Profile

Talent Management

NATALIE BASSINGTHWAIGHTE

Natalie is one of Australia's most versatile entertainers, achieving success as a presenter, actress, musician, and author.

Natalie was most recently seen on stage starring as Mary-Jane in Alanis Morissette's Toni Award Winning Musical, Jagged Little Pill, and has since been nominated for the prestigious Green Room Award 2023 for best Leading Artist.

Space 22, a BBC production for ABC Australia is her most recent hosting work where she explores the merit of creative release to aid and assist in mental health. Natalie also explored her ancestry on season 12 of SBS's Who Do You Think You Are.

Natalie's work as a presenter includes starring as the host of Network Ten's Changing Rooms, as a judge and mentor in the popular Channel Seven series The X Factor Australia and she led Beau Monga to victory on The X Factor New Zealand. She co-hosted the 2010 Aria Awards and won a Logie Award for her three-year stint as host on So You Think You Can Dance. She was also one of the finalists in Network Ten's I'm A Celebrity Get Me Out Of Here Australia.

Her recent acting credits include the role of Elvis's Step Mother in Baz Luhrmann's hugely anticipated movie, Elvis – alongside Tom Hanks, the second season of Network Ten's The Wrong Girl, reprising her role as 'Izzy Hoyland' in the iconic television series Neighbours, and Network Ten's biopic Brock, alongside Matt Le Nevez. Her other credits include the third installment of the hit series Underbelly: The Golden Mile, The Mystery Of Natalie Wood, Counterstrike and The Lost World. She also won the Best Actress Award at Tropfest 2016 for her performance in the short film Why Would I Lie?.

Profile

Talent Management

Natalie began her stage career on Australian productions of Grease, Rent, Footloose and Chicago. She returned to stage at the iconic Sydney Opera House for the hugely successful extended season of the play Love, Loss and What I Wore and Sydney Symphony Orchestra's Funny Girl In Concert and prior to Jagged Little Pill she played Roxie Hart in the hugely successful production of Chicago, for which she was nominate; best female actor in a musical for the Sydney Theatre Awards.

Natalie has received Logie nominations for Most Popular Actress and Most Popular Presenter, as well as two Gold Logie nominations.

Natalie's music career has seen her achieve acclaim as one of only ten women to reach Number One on the ARIA Charts as a solo artist. Her solo album, 1000 STARS, debuted at number one She has enjoyed international success as front woman of The Rogue Traders, achieving multi-platinum sales across two albums, as well as two APRA nominations, an MTV award win, and seven ARIA nominations. In 2023 she supported Christina Aguilera and also performed at the George Michael Freedom concert with the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra.

Talent Manager:

Joseph Hanrahan

jhanrahan@profiletalent.com.au

+ 61 3 8598 7810